Measure your kids against Safe T Sam's height chart. If they're under 148cm, they need to be in a booster seat to get the full safety benefit of an adult seat belt.

It's now the law for children to use an approved child restraint while travelling in a vehicle until their 7th birthday.

But the real measure of safety is not age, it's height. So be on the safe side and keep your child in a booster seat until they're tall enough. For more information, visit www.safekids.nz
